Good Afternoon Family Members,

We hope this email finds you safe and in good health. The staff and volunteers at Harvest Family Success Center are aware that recent events have led to a great deal of change throughout the community. We wanted to reach out to let everyone know that, even though the doors to HFSC are temporarily closed, we are still available to you via phone or email. We have been communicating daily with other organizations in the community to see how we can all be of assistance. Any resources we receive that are relevant to our family members, we will be sure to share with you through various means.

In the meantime, we are working to create online programming that family members will be able to access safely from home. We are open to any program suggestions you may have to make self-distancing a little easier. Not everyone may have the ability to participate via online webinars, but we will use various means of communication to make you aware of tips, programming, and vital information for the community once they are available, such as texting, email, Facebook, and Instagram.

We look forward to helping you in any way we can during this period. Please make sure to take care of your families; stay home, stay well, and stay safe. Don't hesitate to contact us if there is anything we can do for you, to help you through these difficult times.

Sincerely yours,

HFSC Staff and Volunteers

P.S. It's much easier to reach us through our emails!
